

Live Webinar—New Insights and Supports for Transracial Parenting: Launching Our Updated Transracial Parenting Series

Tuesday, May 12, 2026 | 12:00-1:00 PM

Raising a child transracially is a journey that calls for intention, learning, and the right resources. This Lunch and Learn webinar introduces Isaac Etter — transracial adoptee, social entrepreneur, and founder of Identity and Parenting Different — and unveils our newly updated Transracial Parenting Series, now available in Champion Classrooms.

Isaac brings both lived experience and professional expertise to conversations about raising children who feel seen, heard, and truly valued. During this session, he'll share an overview of his work and introduce the four updated recordings coming to Champion Classrooms: Inside Transracial Adoption, Protective Styling Done Right, Trauma-Informed Parenting in Transracial Families, and Understanding and Supporting Transracial Adoptees.

Whether you're a foster parent, adoptive parent, or relative caregiver, this webinar is your first look at a powerful new set of tools designed with your family in mind.
